TLC and CUSP present the Second Annual
Scholarship of Teaching and Learning Symposium
April 26, 2012  —  10:30-2:00

Call for Proposals
The University of Washington Bothell 2012 Scholarship of Teaching and Learning Symposium invites you to submit a proposal for a poster presentation and to share this announcement with interested colleagues.

The Symposium provides an opportunity for all of us in the teaching and learning community to share best practices, celebrate accomplishments, and discuss the scholarship of teaching and learning in a forum dedicated to enriching the UW Bothell experience for faculty, staff, and students.

We will focus on sharing ideas, practices, and initiatives that aim to transform students through their educational experiences, that acknowledge an increasingly connected world, and that recognize that information is at our students’ fingertips, just a text message or Google search away.

We seek proposals from faculty, staff, and graduate students for engaging sessions that build on research and personal experience, help colleagues make improvements, highlight current and future campus and personal initiatives, and focus on ways we can put good ideas into action within and outside the classroom.

Although we invite proposals on any teaching and learning topic, we encourage proposals reflecting, but not limited to, the conference themes:

- Interdisciplinarity
- Integrated Learning
- Learning Outcomes and Assessment
- University/Community Experiential Learning
- Global Learning
- Technologies of Teaching and Learning
- Other
Submitted a Proposal

The deadline for proposal submission is Friday, March 30, 2012.

Your proposal should consist of a poster title and a description of no more than 250 words. Please include presenter names, titles, institutional/organizational affiliations, e-mail, and phone numbers. The proposal should be clear and concise and your title should accurately reflect the content and theme that you have selected.

Proposals must be a Microsoft Word document and must be e-mailed to Annie Brelsford at cusp@uwb.edu. (A hard copy of proposals will not be accepted.)

UW Bothell faculty members will review all proposals and make selections by the end of February.

Format of the Day

The Symposium will begin with a 5-minute welcome followed by two Poster sessions running 60 minutes each with a 15 minute break in between (one hour at poster, one hour to make rounds).

Poster sessions combine visual displays of key information with written materials and small group interaction to create a more individualized learning experience. These sessions include 40”x 60” boards to display text, diagrams, pictures, and/or graphs that depict program components, findings, samples of student work, and/or participant testimony. Posters should describe the visual text, data, display, etc. and indicate how the data or information will be useful to a particular or multiple sectors of higher education.

Format for each poster session: 60 minutes; 1-2 facilitators; 36” x 48” poster boards (available for purchase at the UW Bothell Book Store). Poster board will be available at the bookstore after April 15. We will supply easels and binder clips. Check with the staff by April 15 if you have other supply needs. NOTE: we will not provide tables unless you have a special need and request one before March 15.

Best Practices for Poster Creation

UW Seattle’s Teaching and Learning Symposium web site has a great Poster Design page that outlines best practices for poster development:  http://depts.washington.edu/sotl/

Notification

Upon submission of your proposal, you will receive an e-mail message acknowledging receipt of your proposal. If you do not receive this message, please e-mail Annie Brelsford at cusp@uwb.edu to confirm that we have received your proposal.

Acceptance

You will receive notification about the status of your proposal by the beginning of April 2012.
