New Business

1. Guest Speaker Segan Jobe
 - a. Chancellors Retreat wants feedback on future budget scenarios

Segan presented the various growth models for the campus that were discussed. Two models emphasized, Grow or no grow, if we do grow, how and where? Several scenarios were brought to the table:

- Baseline, we will stop growing by FY18, would mean a halt to growth starting next year. This model had too many negative outcomes and was immediately dismissed.
 - Continue with the model we are currently using, around 300 student each year. Would still be in deficit, would need to find a way to enhance revenue. The campus is constrained by physical space and it takes a least six years to complete a new building. UW Bothell is the most densely populated four-year school in the state of Washington. New space would have to be found outside of the immediate area in order to accommodate growth.
 - New blended model, maintain current growth model until FY18, then a spike in admissions. Would include nationwide recruiting and switching between moderate and accelerated growth each year. Space is still the big issue, but this is the most financially viable option.
2. Meeting room change
 - a. Meeting room will rotate to various locations to accommodate members who are farther away, possible rooms include: UW1-103, Husky Hall, Beardslee Cove. Make sure to check the meeting room on the agenda.
