The University of Washington Bothell Campus Safety | Emergency Preparedness Department is pleased to offer this Spring Emergency Preparedness Seminar Series in collaboration with the Washington State Emergency Management Division!

These educational outreach preparedness trainings will help all campus community members understand their ongoing role in preparing for emergencies and how to become more resilient when faced with a disaster.

Tsunami Preparedness
Monday April 10
9:15am-10:15am

Tsunamis can happen at any time. They can reach Washington’s 3,200 miles of coastline and are a risk for all coastal communities. This Tsunami Preparedness training will provide information about tsunami risks and warning signs, Washington tsunami alert methods, tsunami evacuation and inundation maps, pedestrian evacuation walk time maps, and more!

Danté Disabatino, Tsunami Program Coordinator with the Washington State Emergency Management Division, will host the training via Microsoft Teams. Registration link on UWB Events Calendar webpage.

Volcano Preparedness
Friday May 5
9:15am-10:15am

Did you know that Washington has five active Volcanoes?! Because people are moving into areas near these mountains at a rapid pace, the state’s volcanoes are among the most dangerous in the United States. The Volcano Preparedness training will give you an opportunity to become more familiar with volcanic risk and learn the steps you can take to reduce potential impacts and be better prepared.

Brian Terbush, Earthquake/Volcano Program Coordinator with the Washington State Emergency Management Division, will host the training via Microsoft Teams. Registration link on UWB Events Calendar webpage.

Personal Preparedness
Monday June 5
9:15am-10:15am

Being prepared for disasters is everyone’s job, including YOU. Washington is high-risk for a lot of disasters, and planning ahead can help you reduce anxiety, be more resilient, and recover quicker. This Personal Preparedness training will teach you the essential steps to personal preparedness, including learning your hazards, having a plan, and how to build an emergency kit.

Hollie Stark, Outreach Program Coordinator with the Washington State Emergency Management Division, will host the training via Microsoft Teams. Registration link on UWB Events Calendar webpage.
