| Executive Summary of Your Proposal: Please provide a concise overview of the program, activity, or service for which you seek funding.
* Remember that the contingency process is for new ideas/initiatives only from students, all other requests must be made during the Annual Cycle. Typically budgets are available in February. Complex events may take up to 8 weeks to plan, so keep this in mind when proposing a contingency proposal for an event. | “Progressive art can assist people to learn not only about the objective forces at work in the society in which they live, but also about the intensity social character of their interior lives. Ultimately, it can propel people toward social emancipation.”
― Angela Davis
Our idea for the contingency cycle is to bring Dr. Angela Davis to our campus to speak. Earlier this year, we had a speaking event with Patrisse Cullors, who brought the youth perspective of the struggle. It would be amazing to close out the school year and bring in the elder’s perspective of the struggle. An event such as this will inspire our students to seek and fight for change. Most of all this will bring unity to our campus. We believe that Dr. Davis is essential to speak at this event because of the wide range of experiences she has had.
and continues to have. Not only that, but given the fact that she was a professor who taught History of Consciousness and Feminist Studies and is one of the co-founders of Critical Resistance. Given Dr. Davis' research interest of feminism, African-American studies, critical theory, Marxism, popular music, social consciousness, and the philosophy and history of punishment and prisons the topic and purpose our event aligns well with what her mission is.

As an educator, author, scholar and social activist, we believe that Dr. Davis will help make this event impactful, unforgettable, and one that will spark a chain effect of change. The purpose of this event is to further inform our students and community of what critical resistance looks like and what forms it can take on in relation to unity.

"We have to talk about liberating minds as well as liberating society."
— Angela Davis

Oftentimes, when speaking on diversity the University tokenizes black and brown bodies and experiences. When referring to the diversity we hold as a campus, there is need for authenticity and action-based inclusivity/support.

Given the current state of white nationalism that is sweeping our nation, many of our students have been impacted and need space that reminds them of resilience and hope during this time. Dr. Davis embodies both that resiliency and for many, she brings hope. Through this event, we have the chance to educate administration, staff, and faculty on how to support our students and why it is important to do so.

Being that our campus is 40% white, 26% asian, 9% latinx, 6% black, 10% international, <1% Native Hawaiian or Pacific Islander, 6% two or more races, 2% not included and <1% native american, white nationalism is a terrorist issue that continues to impact all communities and identities represented by our UWB community. That being said, it would empower students to speak on unity and learn why it is important now more than ever to stand united as one.

Question:
Need for this Program/ Service: In 200 words or less, please do the following: *Describe the need for this program or service. * If possible, include any data that might support your proposal (i.e. surveys indicating a need for your initiative).

We have estimated that this event would benefit roughly 600 or more students. Considering the reputation that Dr. Davis holds academically and internationally we believe that many departments and professors will have a great deal of interest in this event. Moreover, based off of their interest we believe that professors will make it a requirement for students to attend, bringing in students of all academic levels, from freshmen to graduates. Through this event students will have the chance to apply what they’ve learned in class to the real world and hopefully take home Dr. Davis’ book, Freedom is a Constant Struggle. In addition to our students, Cascadia students and the Bothell community (and surrounding communities) as a whole would benefit from this event. That being said this event would also be an evening of education, networking and commUNITY.

Question:
Additional Information: If needed, please include any other information you feel is relevant to your request. (There is no character limit on this field).

- 50 minute talk followed by 30 minutes of Q&A in the form of a large lecture: In addition we also would like to schedule an hour long informal meeting with a small group of on campus student leaders after Dr. Davis speaks.

- what do you want her to talk about?: We are a small campus with a big heart passionately rooted in social justice. She is one of the very few who is able to bridge the gap between the younger and older generations through the way that she shows how our past reflects on and influences our presence. Her words and actions inspire youth to empower themselves with the knowledge of the past and how they can use it to fight the present day struggle. In every one of her speeches she embodies the wisdom of the elders and the energy of our youth. At a time when our country is separated our students need a sense of united hope.

To that end, we’re interested in hearing her speak about why is it important to stand united as one within the 21st century "struggle"? (Incorporating the themes of: how to build coalitions and leverage them for systemic change?, race, power and privilege, how to stay healthy in the fight for justice?)

- Time: 5:45 pm
- Dates we are looking at:
  - April 11
  - April 17
  - April 25
  - May 1
  - May 8
  - May 16

Having Dr. Davis come and speak on our campus would really mean a lot. I hope we are able to make this happen.

Please also note that we have broken out costs for booking fees, travel, lodging, and meals, but we will attempt to arrange for a single all-inclusive price in our contract that includes the travel, lodging, and meals. This would mean a similar overall cost as it would be if lines were broken out separately, but that single costs would fall under the single line item of programming.
